JUDGING CRITERIA

1. Judging Criteria (Chart)

2. Judging Criteria (Explanation)

(i) WAZA-ARI and IPPON

0 < One WAZA-ARI < IPPON (Two WAZA-ARI)

(ii) In case there is no CHUI nor WAZA-ARI with only slight difference in fighting between the two competitors

- a) Damages shall be given the first priority to judging a winner.
- b) In case of no damage seen in both competitors, the first priority to judging shall be given to the number of punches and the number of kicks.
- c) In case there is no difference in numbers of punches and kicks between the two competitors, the one who shows more fighting spirit will win the bout (in case of a final round where a winner has to be decided).

(iii) In case of one competitor having one more CHUI than the other, this does not influence the decision much. The decision shall be made mainly on the contents of the fight. However, in a final extension, if there is no difference in fighting between the two competitors, the one with the CHUI ICHI will lose the bout.

< < <
0 = One Warning = Two Warnings = Three Warnings > Four Warnings
> (CHUI ICHI) > (CHUI NI) > (CHUI SAN) (CHUI YON)
(GENTEN ICHI) (GENTEN NI)

(iv) In case of a difference of two CHUI, basically the one who has got two warnings (CHUI NI)

The 7th World Karate Championship in Weight Categories will lose. However, if he is obviously leading his opponent, there may be possibility for a draw.

0 ≥ Two Warnings (CHUI NI) (GENTEN ICHI)
One Warning ≥ Three Warnings (CHUI SAN) (GENTEN NI+CHUI ICHI)
(CHUI ICHI)

(v) In case of a difference of three warnings, the one who has got three more warnings will lose, no matter how much he is leading the fight.

Fighter 1 Fighter 2
0 > Three warnings (GENTEN ICHI + CHUI ICHI)

(vi) When one competitor has both WAZA-ARI and CHUI, the competitor will win since WAZA-ARI is basically the strongest. However, depending on the number of warnings and contents, it may be judged as down below:

Fighter 1 Fighter 2
a) 0 < Waza-Ari + One Warning
b) 0 < Waza-Ari + Two Warnings (GENTEN ICHI)
c) 0 ≤ Waza-Ari + Three Warnings (GENTEN ICHI + CHUI ICHI)

Note: Basically the one holding a Waza-Ari is the winner, but if fighter 1 is leading the fight remarkably, it may be decided as a draw.

d) 0 > Waza-Ari + Four Warnings (GENTEN NI)
Even if the person has a Waza-Ari, GENTEN NI will result in his disqualification.
